About Sydney Sweeney

Sydney Bernice Sweeney is an American actress, producer, and model. She is best known for her roles in the HBO drama series Euphoria (2019–present) and the first season of the anthology series The White Lotus (2021), which earned her nominations for two Primetime Emmy Awards.

Sweeney began her career as guest star in TV shows such as 90210, Criminal Minds, Grey's Anatomy and Pretty Little Liars.

Sweeney also starred as Beatrice Addario in the 2018 Netflix series Everything Sucks!, which revolved around two groups of high school students in Oregon in 1996. She then appeared in the HBO miniseries Sharp Objects, recurring as Alice, who is confined to a psychiatric facility. Her character was originally supposed to have been a smaller role, but the director kept adding more scenes for her. Reiterating the role, Sweeney studied stories of girls who suffered from mental illness and self-harming, and visited hospitals with patients who self-harmed. Everything Sucks! and Sharp Objects shot concurrently, the former during the week, the latter on the weekend.

Next up was a recurring role, Bess Spencer, a pious and obedient girl from the totalitarian and theocratic Republic of Gilead during the second season of the Hulu series The Handmaid's Tale. She also starred in the horror film, Along Came the Devil, then Clemestine, coming-of-age film Big Time Adolescence, and Quentin Tarantino's dramedy Once Upon a Time in Hollywood.

In June 2019, Sweeney began portraying Cassie Howard, a reckless, needy teenager with a promiscuous reputation in the HBO drama series Euphoria. Her performance garnered her a 2022 Primetime Emmy Award nomination for Outstanding Supporting Actress in a Drama Series. Variety commenting Cassie "proves that Sweeney's one hell of a chameleon between her deft turns in this, The Handmaid's Tale, Everything Sucks! and Sharp Objects." Her many nude scenes in the series received significant attention, generating discussions about nudity in film and the nude gaze. Sweeney, however, didn't flinch, saying she would not stop doing nude scenes.

Sweeney is also, as of 2020, the founder of a production company, Fifty-Fifty Films.

2020 also brought the TV film, Nocturne. In 2021, Sweeney appeared in the first season of Mike White's black comedy anthology series The White Lotus as a tandoori college sophomore, garnering more critical acclaim. For her portrayal she was nominated for the Primetime Emmy Award for Outstanding Supporting Actress in a Limited or Anthology Series or Movie for 2022. Her accomplishments earned her a place on the Time 100 Next list for 2022.

In 2023, Sweeney starred as U.S. Air Force veteran Reality Winner in Tina Satter's thriller drama, Reality, which premiered at the 73rd Berlin Film Festival, where she received critical acclaim for her performance. Stephen Greene of IndieWire found the film "inventively mounted and meticulously tense," and labelled Sweeney, "the real deal". Jessica Kiang of Variety wrote that she played Winner "so convincingly that it's hard to remember her as the sardonic, pampered teen in The White Lotus, or the nice-girl-turned-nasty in Euphoria". Sweeney next starred in Americana, which premiered at the South by Southwest Festival in 2023. She then appeared in the music video for the Rolling Stones' single, "Angry". From then Hackney Diamonds album. Blur frontman Damon Albarn criticized the video for objectifying Sweeney, but she defended it as "empowerment through embracing [my] body."

Sweeney starred with Glen Powell in the romantic comedy Anyone But You, which premiered in December 2023.

Sweeney has one of the lead roles in the superhero film Madame Web, set in the Sony's Spider-Man: Universe (SSU) franchise. She will also produce and star in the psychological horror film, Immaculate, and star alongside Julianne Moore in Echo Valley.

At age 25, Sweeney was selected as one of Forbes' 30 Under 30 in the celebrity category.

In 2023, Sweeney also became brand ambassador for companies Armani Beauty and Lancôme.

Sweeney is of French-Canadian, Irish, and Scottish descent.

As of February 2024, she has amassed 17.9 million followers on Instagram.

Yes Sweeney has amazing boobs. But she is also just so pretty. And I feel a very good actor too.

Same people sound incredibly bitter. Funny, considering they haven't been inside a vagina since the day they were born.

It really does kinda come off as bitterness, doesn't it?

Posted by I_Love_Kinky_Loren | Reply | 1 | 2 | 2024-03-30 20:40

But then, by your own logic, we're all gay who haven't been inside a vagina since birth and bitter- because you also, for sure, find other actresses and models unattractive. Does that make you gay, bitter and/or a virgin?
Or simply, and more to the point- we all have different tastes and different types of women were attracted to and find pretty. Not all of us find the same women pretty.
And speaking for myself- I'll admit I am puzzled at the hype Sydney Sweeney is generating and trying to understand why- especially as, again to me, there is nothing unique or special about her (and I saw some over at E.Chatter) comparing her to Marylin Monroe-which is really, a stretch, IMO.
It's not bitterness. It's just a difference of opinion.

See, there's a difference between you saying "there's nothing special about her at all" (which you did say in your previous comment) and "TO ME, there's nothing special about her at all". The problem is when you say that there's nothing special about her, as if making an objective statement that everyone should agree with, and then you say that it's the same as expressing a personal, subjective dislike for an actress. It's not the same my friend. I don't think anyone would have a problem if you just said that she just doesn't do it for you. After all, you admitted that it's subjective. Making a statement like that does come off as bitter because it feels like you just can't allow others to like what they like. I'm not saying that's what you believe but it can feel that way if you don't express it well. As for the Marilyn Monroe comparison, I think that's a bit of a stretch, sure. I mean, Marilyn was a sex symbol of her time and Sydney Sweeney's impact is just not as big, but it's still real. Her titties are famous. That's undeniable, whether you find them special or not.

I'll grant you that maybe I should've said "to me" to begin with, and I hear what you're saying, but at the same time I think you're overthinking this. Because even if "to me" isn't said, it should be clear that it's just an opinion and not a statement- Beauty is in the eye of the beholder after all, right? So it should be a given. And the same goes to those who do like her- it's their opinion. My disagreement and my not finding her attractive has nothing to do with "allowing" people to enjoy her. To each their own. But by expressing my opinion (flawed though it was in execution) I hoped to gain an understanding to the hype surrounding her, because I really don't get it.
And again- calling someone "bitter, gay, virgin" and other superlatives I've seen here, just because they don't like her is also harsh and like "so you don't like her? you and your opinion don't count".

Yeah I get what you're saying. But you're not the first one to say that the subjectivity of what you're saying is implied (after the fact) and I'm not disagreeing with that. I'm disagreeing with the way you're saying it. Because you're not saying it as a subjective statement. And the context doesn't always make it obvious either. We all can refer things but we need some clues for that. So clarity is important, especially in a comment section where we rely only on what was actually written, because you can easily confuse people. No one is perfect, we've all probably made a similar mistake at some point but it's important not to be a prick about it which you don't seem to be, so good on you sir.

Average blonde with horrible acting skills. Nothing special about her at all- no, not even her tits. And those who say she's got big ones- you clearly haven't seen big tits in your life. Her body is okay, but again, nothing out of the ordinary. And her acting is horrendous, just because she gets naked and humps anything that walks on her films doesn't make her a good actress (or beautiful, for that matter).
There are way more beautiful, skillful, stunning actresses and models out there than her.
Completely overrated.
